

Noteworthy #s

CHI Research Analyst
Nina Roumell breaks down
a few interesting figures for
JULY 2015

IN COLORADO

$19,000

The amount of money a trip on I-70 from the mountains to Denver could save you on a joint replacement surgery, according to a new analysis of Medicare data. It's no secret that hospitals charge differently for the same procedure, but a new analysis shows just how much variation there can be in hospitals not that far from each other. So, a joint replacement surgery in Denver may be $19,000 less than it costs in a hospital in the mountains. Is it worth the traffic?

CLICK HERE FOR STORY

Between six percent and 36 percent

The range of the probability of being uninsured in Colorado depending on your ZIP code, according to a new Colorado Health Institute analysis. Where you live matters. Want to increase your chances of having health insurance? Move to Douglas County.

CLICK HERE FOR STORY

21st

Colorado's ranking in a child well-being list from the Annie E. Casey Foundation's annual Kids Count. That's an improvement from 22nd in 2014. One small step for kids, one giant leap for Colorado's future.

CLICK HERE FOR STORY

1/2

The amount of her liver a Colorado teen donated to her older sister to save her life. #Sisterlylove

CLICK HERE FOR STORY

120

The number of children seeking hormone blockers at Children's Hospital in order to transition to their preferred gender. Elsa, a transgender girl, or as her family says, true-gender, may soon receive the hormone therapy. She's named after the Disney princess from the movie Frozen - who guarded a dark secret and then "Let It Go."

CLICK HERE FOR STORY

NATIONAL

$300 Billion

The amount of money businesses lose due to health bills and lost productivity because of stress. Employers are turning over a new leaf — trashing the stress balls and investing in mind/body wellness programs.

CLICK HERE FOR STORY

0

The number of federal regulations or industry-wide quality measures addressing cell phone use in the operating room (OR). Turns out some surgeons may actually be using their phone to text a friend or check Facebook rather than looking up health data. A number of physician and medical groups are calling for clear rules on cell phones.

CLICK HERE FOR STORY

Noteworthy Numbers is compiled and written by CHI research analyst Nina Roumell

roumelln@coloradohealthinstitute.org • @CHI_NinaSadie